Spirit Day

October 30th was Orange and Black Day. It was an exciting afternoon for all students.

This month the SLC has planned two exciting Spirit days. Tuesday, November 17th is Wacky Sock Day and Friday, November 27th is Twin Day. Dress up like your favorite person.

'You are the light of the world. A city built on a hill cannot be hidden. No one after lighting a lamp puts it under the bushel basket, but on the lampstand, and it gives light to all the house. In the same way, let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your father in heaven.

Matthew 5:14-16

No Classes

There are no classes November 11th due to Remembrance Day. Also, there are no classes November 12th & 13th. These are days in lieu of conferences. As well, there are no classes for students November 20th. This is an assigned teacher time day.

School Messenger

Remembrance Day

These are no classes November 11th. This day is a day of remembrance.

"Every year on November 11th, Canadians pause in a silent moment of remembrance for the men and women who have served, and continue to server our country during time of war, conflict and peace" (Veteran's Affairs Canada).

Remembrance Day Celebration

Mme Mugford's grade 3/4 class will be leading our Remembrance Day Celebration on Tuesday, November 10th. We will record this celebration and post it Edsby for a limited time.

What is the Weather Like Today?

With changing weather conditions please try and dress your child(ren) to suit the changing temperatures. Better to be a bit warm than too cold! Please label all your child(ren's) outdoor clothing including boots. Thank you.

Parent Corner

A positive mindset can help your child succeed in math. Think your child's state of mind has nothing to do with his performance in math class? Think again. According to research, the brain's "emotion" and "intellect" centers are connected. In fact, they are permanently entwined. What this means for your child is that his mindset can affect his ability to solve math problems. Think about it: If he's nervous about an assignment in front of him, he may struggle to answer the questions. But if he's calm and confident, he'll likely do much better. To encourage a positive mindset when it comes to math:

- Remind your child that effort leads to achievement. Does your child claim he can't do math because he's "just not smart"? That implies people are either born intelligent or not. But that isn't true. Buckling down can lead to smarts.
- Send the right message. Don't say, "that problem looks hard." If your child worries about something being too difficult, he may decide he can't do it. Instead, say, "That problem looks challenging." Let your child know that figuring out challenging math problems is rewarding and fun.
- Teach your child to relax. Suggest that he picture something happy or fun. Remind him that he knows more than he thinks he does. If you can help your child calm his nerves before he picks up his pencil, he'll have a better chance for success!
